

LMU REWARD

Chief Hampton Cantrell Bulletin Issued: Tuesday, April 28, 2015

Loyola Marymount University is offering a $20,000 reward for information leading to the identification, arrest and successful prosecution of the person responsible for the rape of an LMU student that occurred on Halloween night 2014.

On Saturday, November 1, 2014, at approximately 12:40 a.m., an LMU student was raped in a home located in the 8700 block of Yorktown Avenue, Los Angeles, during a Halloween party attended by LMU students and others. The person responsible was unknown to the victim. The suspect was described as a white male in his early 20s, approximately 6'00" in height and 170 pounds, with brown shoulder-length hair, wearing a white top hat, white shirt and dark pants. It is unknown if the suspect was an LMU student or one of a number of visitors to the home.

The Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) and the LMU Department of Public Safety (DPS) initiated extensive independent investigations of the incident. At this time, additional information is necessary to identify the person responsible for this crime.

Anyone with information useful to the case should contact the LAPD, Operations West Bureau, Sex Crimes Unit, at (213) 473-0447 or the LMU Department of Public Safety at (310) 338-2893.

For information on LMU's sexual assault resources, please visit <http://www.lmu.edu/lmucares>.

SKETCH PROVIDED BY LOS ANGELES POLICE DEPARTMENT